Contest In Two Div. For Water Directors Board

Contests exist in two divisions of the proposed Monterey Peninsula Water District. Yesterday Attorney Thomas S. Montgomery of Carmel Valley and Roy T. Muehlberger of Monterey obtained nomination papers for the board of directors of the water district from the county clerk's office. Montgomery opposes Loring K. Warner who obtained papers this week to run in District 5. Muehlberger's opponent in District 2 is Ernest L. Barbour, Jr., of Pebble Beach who took out papers on Monday.

Candidates are circulating nomination declarations in all five proposed districts. Ed Coffin of Pacific Grove, District 3; Newell A. Davies of Carmel Woods, District 4; and James Patton of Seaside, District 1; took out papers last week. Nominations close August 29. One director is to be elected from each of five Peninsula districts, at the same time as the water district proposition is voted upon. This proposition is for public acquisition and ownership of the California Water and Telephone Company plant and properties.

District 1 is Seaside; District 2, Monterey; District 3, Pacific Grove including part of Pebble Beach; District 4, Carmel, including Carmel Woods, Point Lobos, precincts 4 and 6 in Pebble Beach and precinct 1 in Carmel Valley; District 5, Upper Carmel Valley and Del Rey Oaks.

Bookmobiles Are Red Highlands Is Blue Miltons Are Missed

Tuesday morning Mabel and Bob Milton made their last run to the Highlands with the Monterey County Bookmobile before retiring to take over the county library in Seaside. As they drove to their accustomed stopping place beside the gas station they found their way blocked by little girls holding a streetwide banner reading:

Bookmoblies are red
The Highlands is blue
'Cause the Miltons are leaving.
We're gonna miss you!

Behind the banner were white linen cloth covered tables laden with assorted meats, stuffed eggs, home baked loaves of bread, coffee cakes, cookies, wine and coffee and a large white iced cake, decorated with a pink icing bookmobile,

1,000 Honor Serra

Catholic pilgrims from all parts of Northern California will convene at Mission Carmel on Sunday to pay homage to Junipero Serra, the Franciscan who established the original California Missions. That day will be the 175th anniversary of the death of Padre Serra, the Apostle of California. He is buried beneath the sanctuary of the main altar at Mission Carmel.

This is the eighteenth annual pilgrimage to Serra's grave and, as in other years, it is under the sponsorship of the Third Order of St. Francis, an international group of lay persons who follow the principles of St. Francis of Assisi. Serra, too, was a follower of St. Francis.

Chartered busses and private cars will transport the pilgrims from all major cities of Northern California. Last year more than 1000 were present.

The principal ceremonies will begin at 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon with the laying of a wreath on Serra's tomb by a Knights of Columbus honor guard. Following a procession, the pilgrims will be addressed by the Most Rev. Harry A. Clinch, D.D., Auxiliary Bishop of the Monterey-Fresno diocese.

The ceremonies will end with Solemn Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament.

Planners Talk Of New Zoning Ord., Urge City Council Support For State Anti-Billboard Legislation

Preliminary plans for new zoning ordinance work were made yesterday afternoon by the Carmel Planning Commission meeting in study session with City Attorney John Morse. However, commission zoning studies can only be tentative, they decided, until the city council approves or rejects the master plan or presents the plan which council members have drawn up and not, as yet, officially acted upon in council session.

Chairman George Willox stressed commissioners must be prepared for much hard work on zoning before December when the interim zoning ordinance expires. Mrs. Florence Josselyn spoke of problems of the small multiple dwelling property owners in the business districts. In public hearings on the "motel" interim ordinance amendment these owners plead hardship. Mrs. Josselyn's opinion was that they faced no greater hardship than owners in the residence zone where small lot size means, if a residence of three bedrooms is planned, owners "have to go upstairs."

Commissioner Fred Keeble remarked that when a new building code was adopted in any area, nonconforming usages immediately came into existence. He did not think framing of a new zoning ordinance "should be held up for creating nonconforming uses."

Commissioner Herbert Blanks stated that the Planning Commission cannot arbitrarily say certain usages cannot exist. In a new zoning ordinance "definite zoning use should be permissible with other use non-conforming. We've got to come back to the fact that in spite of what we want certain uses are proper," he said. He favored controls through open space, offstreet parking and architectural controls.

City Attorney John Morse told commissioners heads of city departments should be consulted in planning a zoning ordinance. The fire chief and police chief might suggest necessary controls. As example Mr. Morse pointed out that our small fire force might have difficulty controlling large building fires. Installation of sprinkler systems in such buildings might be an ordinance requirement. Such a demand might mean "added expense to the property owner but save the city money."

Commissioner Lee Gottfried thought the same open space and off-street parking controls need not apply equally to multiple dwelling and business buildings in the same zone.

Discussion ended with Chairman Willox' remark that commissioners had better "take the whole master plan and study."

In regular session next week planners will discuss a letter from Senator Fred Farr asking that they consider the location of a new post office for Carmel. He asked them to regard the "rapid growth

BY RAYLYN PENNEY

We'd like you to meet the man behind the music at Carmel Mission San Carlos Borromeo. He is seen seldom, even by those Carmelites who attend church there, because his domain is the choir loft at the top of those worn stone steps spiraling up from the narthex of the chapel.

Heinrich Bender came to the Peninsula in April, 1957, from a suburb of Frankfurt called Babenhausen, where he was born and where generations of his family since the Middle Ages were born and lived their lives. "I was really the first to leave home," he says.

With him came his wife, Martha; Winfried, the Benders' eight-year-old son who is now back in Germany on a visit, and Heidi, seven. Angela was born here shortly after the family arrived.

They've settled down in Monterey, at 534 Abrego, where the organist and choirmaster also has his studio. Mrs. Bender, although the family is of Lutheran origin, also sings in the 17-voice choir her husband directs.

Such a family, suddenly transported to alien surroundings, might be expected to have qualms and regrets. It's not so, says the tall, lithe, sometimes-smiling, sometimes-serious professional musician. They like their new home extremely.

In addition to his mission duties, and private piano students, he teaches music at San Carlos School and this autumn will be teaching classes at Robert Louis Stevenson School.

Heinrich Bender first saw America under stranger circumstances. A member of Rommel's Afrika Korps early in World War II, he became a prisoner of war and was interned in Southern United States and in New Mexico in 1943.

Then in 1954, he came here as a guest for three weeks of two of his former music students in Frankfurt, Mr. and Mrs Clifford E. Freeman, of Hayward. He returned for a 10-month stay in this country the very next year and became interested in this area through his acquaintance with Dr. Harvey Marshall, head of the music department at Monterey Peninsula

Council Makes Halo-Deserving Decisions On Taxes, Salaries

Pine Cone has ordered from blacksmith Francis Whitaker five bronze halos for the city council, full scale ones for Mayor John Chitwood and Councilman Allen Knight; half halos for Gunnar Norberg and Everett May, and a double halo for James Buffington. There should be a sixth, in pure gold, for City Clerk Larry Rose, but city clerks are not allowed to wear halos, only councilmen.

At their second budget study session this week the city council overcame their natural repugnance to do such things and approved a three percent cost of living raise for city employees, and agreed to a budget that would allow for a five and a half cent cut in property taxes.

Gunnar Norberg gets only a half halo because he opposed the cost of living raise, wanted to work over the entire salary schedule to re-evaluate all the jobs. Perhaps some were getting paid for not doing as much work as others were not being paid for doing more, he thought.

The mayor said that the salary schedule had been revised last year; that if Norberg wanted to do it again he should have started in May. The budget has to be adopted by September 1. Besides, the three percent raise was not a merit raise, but a cost of living raise, and all the other cities were doing it.

Jim Buffington pointed out that it costs a lot to train new men into jobs. It's better to keep the salary level up than to have other cities lure our employees away with higher pay.

Norberg didn't give up, he was just outvoted.

Everett May gets only a half halo. Perhaps he doesn't deserve a halo at all. He looked with great dissatisfaction on any reduction of taxes. Keep the taxes up and use the money to buy parking lots, build an annex to the library, buy Robinson Jeffers' home for a museum—things like that. The mayor said that expenditure for such purchases should not come out of tax money. Other sources of revenue should be found.

And Jim Buffington's double halo? Councilman Buffington decided that the street department needs a new truck more than a brush chopper. Since the rest of the councilmen were disinclined to let him have both, he'd take the truck and wait until next year and next budget for the chopper. So the community has a year's reprieve from the chopper, which makes noise.

As for the gold halo that City

What They Told Council

Tom Perry, representing the C-2 Property Owners Association, opened Monday night's public hearing before the council on the proposed 40-60 motel site coverage amendment to the interim zoning ordinance with the comment that the city could not uphold the ordinance if it were tested in court.

Density control is simply an excuse, Perry said; the ordinance is generally known as an anti-motel ordinance. He proposed architectural control "to solve all your problems, enhance the charms of Carmel but in a legal and fair way." He pointed out that the ordinance would affect apartments for permanent residents as well as motels, and Carmel needs low priced apartments. He urged the council to check the 1500 signatures on the petition for motel control. "Some of them are minors and people who aren't Carmel residents." He concluded: "This ordinance is unfair to the property owners who have owned their property longer than most of the people who propose the ordinance have lived here."

Admiral C. W. Fisher, representing the Society for the Conservation and Preservation of Carmel, petitioners for the ordinance, said that the city attorney has passed on the legality of the ordinance.

"Who opposes this ordinance? The property owners in C-2 and some members of the business association. There are 3000 voters in Carmel; 150 business association members; 50 C-2 property owners. The wishes of the residents should have as much weight as those who may lose some profits."

This ordinance may not be foolproof, he conceded. It is admittedly temporary to give the council time to adopt a plan and a new zoning ordinance.

He added that 1000 residents had signed the anti-motel petition and 400 out-of-town people.

"Just because a majority wants something, doesn't make it right," said A. C. Lafrenz, a member of the business association for 30 years.

He stated that motels do not create the greatest problems here. They do not contribute to the traffic troubles because they provide parking for their customers. He concluded with the prediction that restriction of motel building in the business district would result in heavier use of the residence district to furnish over-night accommodations.

COUNCIL UNANIMOUS ON MOTEL ORDINANCE

After listening to arguments for and against the proposed "motel" amendment to the interim zoning ordinance at a public hearing Monday night, the city council voted unanimously for first reading of the amendment and set Monday, August 25, to meet for second reading and adoption.

The amendment provides that the square footage covered by multiple dwellings shall not exceed 60 percent of the building site.

James Pruitt also spoke against the proposed amendment. The problem should be approached through zoning and a master plan, he thought, not piecemeal through interim ordinances.

Col. W. W. Yale said he'd lived in Carmel only a year and he had noticed in that time a deterioration in what he was led to believe is the life of Carmel. "Tourists lower standards, and planning to date has been ineffectual." He approved the ordinance as a means of meeting the problem.

J. O. Handley, a C-2 property owner, said that he didn't buy his property to build a motel on it, but the C-2 property owners feel that this ordinance will depreciate their property. Also it is not fair to the small property owner. "This won't stop building of motels, but produce luxurious motels." He added that the motels are not the source of the traffic problem.

Francis Whitaker, former city councilman, said he is a small C-2 property owner and planning a comprehensive development of his property. Will the council have a new zoning ordinance when January 1 comes? (The interim ordinance expires then.) If not, would the city go back to the 1945 zoning regulations? Would that be fair to the property owner who has built under the restrictions of the interim ordinance? He emphasized that business property owners have a right to stability or consistency. He added that the ordinance proposed density control to only one use: multiple dwellings, motels. "You do not say that there shall be no more than two pumps at a gas station and only so many seats to so many square feet in a restaurant."

Gordon Campbell said that the business property owners have always known there would be conflict between residential and business interests. "They could have seen they would have to recede. They have had their eyes open. They know the traditions of Carmel. They have nothing to complain of except a hurt in the pocket book. Carmel has been good to a lot of people who have spoken, Handley, Lafrenz, Pruitt. An orthodox town would not have done as much for them." He concluded with the statement that we shouldn't "kill the goose that laid the golden egg."

George McEwin took issue with the statements made earlier that motels do not aggravate the traffic problem. "They're right about the quick and the dead. On my street I have to be quick or I'd be dead."

Mrs. Raymond Mapstead said she had no objections to people making money in Carmel if it doesn't hurt Carmel. "We may need a new zoning ordinance, as Mr. Pruitt said, but we need controls while we're working out the ordinance," hence the proposed amendment to the interim ordinance. "Do you want to walk down the street and see nothing but motels?"

Col. C. A. DeCamp said he'd first come to Carmel in 1906 to visit; and 10 years ago to live and become a property owner. He said that the council was committed to upholding the constitution—yes, Carmel does have a constitution in the preamble to the zoning ordinance, which states that Carmel is primarily a community of homes and the interests of the home owners should be predominant.

Grayce McKay spoke of the "contagion of an idea" namely the boom in motel building. "When a former mayor has caught it, we need to do something about it."

Col. C. B. Hazeltine cited the democratic principle that majority rules; that the wishes of the majority should rule in this case.

Patricia Hall observed that she had never prayed for an early and long rainy winter but if we had one it would halt "this hysteria for motel building."

R. W. Taylor simply stated that he earnestly urged passage of the interim ordinance amendment. William Culver and Col. John G. Gahan also spoke briefly in favor of the ordinance.

Dr. Henry Hart Talks To Carmel Lions

Tuesday night the Carmel Lions were treated to a lesson in ancient history, economics and diplomacy by that well known lecturer and educator, Dr. Henry Hart.

His topic for the evening was North Africa, Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow. Dr. Hart has been associated with the University of California Extension Program for over 26 years. He is the author of nine books and for his Sea Roads to the Indies he received the Gold Medal award.

His intimate knowledge of the Chinese culture could only have been gained by years of close contact with its people, among whom he lived for many years. Dr. Hart's talk was his seventh one given to the Lions' club on his annual visits to Carmel. On previous occasions Egypt and the Arab World, and Turkey were two of his subjects.

Many of the things he prognosticated a couple of years ago have since become realities. His broad understanding of the living conditions and policies of the Arab world enables him to talk very fluently and convincingly on the North African and Mideast countries. The Lions were held spellbound during his hour-long talk but had plenty of questions at the end. A rousing vote of thanks was given to Dr. Hart and the members expressed hope that he would return again next year.

Big Sur Gallery Welcomes 300 At Friday Opening

Opened last Friday, August 15, the Big Sur Art Gallery prevue was attended by numerous Big Sur-ites plus a sprinkling of people from the Monterey Peninsula. Altogether, over 300 people showed up. The gallery, which is in the home and under the management of La Verne Allen, represents solely Big Sur artists and is the first venture of it kind in that area.

Prior to this, Big Sur artists have exhibited occasionally at Peninsula art galleries but have had no show place of their own.

Among those showing are Douglas Madsen, Margaret Wentworth, Emil White, Emile Norman, Dorothy Ballon, Don Bloom, Ilene Bolz, Dorothy Bowman, Howard Bradford, George Cholley, Mary Crile, Bob Downey, Paul Evans, Sheila Healey, Jay Kip, Louisa Jenkins, Eve Miller, Henry Miller, Ashley Murphy, Bob Nash, Gordon Newell, Emilia Newell, Ralph Newell, Harrydick Ross, Gertrude Wax, Gene Perrine, Bob Skiles, Josephine Moore, Helen Colby, and Rosalind Sharpe.

The work of Margaret Wentworth, now Mrs. Nathaniel Owings, is particularly well known in Carmel where she has had many shows.

The Big Sur Gallery is aprroximately 29 miles south of Carmel along the east side of Highway Number One and although it has no sign, a truck marked Big Sur Art Gallery is parked in front of it. Douglas Madsen built the house over ten years ago and recently has assisted Mrs. Allen in converting it into an art gallery and building various additions including a platform which will later on be used for poetry readings, dance recitals and original plays.

Montagnes Return To Business In Carmel

After spending the past two years in Palm Springs, Jo and Al Montagne have returned to Carmel where they now plan on making their permanent home. They continued with their activity in real estate while in Palm Springs and are now re-establishing their real estate office at Fifth and Dolores where they were previously located. They will share the office with the Rudoni-Aitken Agency who have operated from this location as a branch of their Monterey office.

The Montagnes will carry on a leasing and rental agency, in conjunction with their general real estate brokerage. They have had many years of experience in all departments of the real estate business, and say they are very happy to be back in their favorite area again.

Movie Of Gann's Novel Now At State

Twilight For The Gods, Universal International's picturization of Pebble Beach Author Ernest K. Gann's novel, now is showing at the State Theater in Monterey. The film, photographed on Maui Island, one of the most beautiful of the Hawaiian group, stars Rock Hudson and Cyd Charisse, and features the distinguished star of Broadway (and films) Arthur Kennedy. Also prominent in the large cast are Leif Erickson, Charles McGraw and Ernest Truex.

Filmed in color, Twilight for the Gods, brings to the screen magnificent photography: Honolulu Harbor, the slopes of Oahu, the beaches of Waikiki, Walkalulu Falls, and Kaanapal Beach.

Ernest Gann who lives in Pebble Beach with his wife, his son, Steven, and his daughter, Polly, wrote the screenplay for the picturization of his book.

Local residents will be interested to know that the ship in the film, a derelict vessel, is Ernest Gann's brigantine, the Albatros, "made up" by Hollywood experts to look even older than it is through the addition of aging makeup and zippers in her sails.

Jewish Community Plans High Holy Day Services

Monterey Peninsula Jewish Community, Inc., announces that it will again hold services for the Jewish High Holy Days, the most important holidays of the Jewish year.

Services for the Jewish New Year, Rosh Hashanah, will take place on Sunday evening, September 14, and on Monday and Tuesday, September 15 and 16. For the Day of Atonement, Yom Kippur, services will take place on Tuesday evening, September 23, and on Wednesday, September 24.

The Services will be held at the House of Four Winds, Calle Principal, Monterey. Cantor Max Kaplan, of Salinas, will officiate.

Religious committee members are H. Dubin, M. Hoffman, S. Ullman. Advisory committee for the High Holy Days includes A. Winston, M. Kaplan, N. Goldman.

Reservations may be made by phoning Harry Dubin at FR 5-6976, or by writing to P.O. Box 51, Monterey.

Bender Is The Man Behind The Music At The Mission

College, and Dr. and Mrs. R. J. Oberfohren.

In his job at the Mission, Bender succeeds the late Noel Sullivan.

This musician's background, which began with lessons at age eight, includes extensive studies in organ, piano and choral conducting.

The last subject he studied under Prof. K. Thomas of the University of Leipzig, who is cantor at the same church (St. Thomas), and in direct line of succession to Bach, who once held the same job.

He was a piano student of Prof. August Leopolder of the University of Frankfurt and studied organ at the Organ School of Prof. Helmut Walcha at the same university. Walcha is known in this country for his records of Bach organ music.

At his home church in Babenhausen, Bender was organist and directed five a capella choirs in different towns nearby. For a time he was director of a private music school and gave choir concerts a capella in concert halls and at Radio Frankfurt.

In the Mission San Carlos he plays an electric organ, although he really feels "that a pipe organ would be better suited to the Old Chapel," which is large and acoustically worthy of the sound of pipe organ music.

Since the Mission Choir is new—organized by the choirmaster only six months ago—its repertoire consists mostly of motets and offeratories rather than full-length masses. (Mission San Carlos celebrates high mass only about three times a year, anyway.)

But Bender's personal preference in religious music extends back to the work of the old masters of the pre-Palestrina period (the classical German and Italian masses, particularly those of Lassus and Victoria), skips the Romantic period and encompasses the revolutionary work of contemporary religious composers.

Before coming to this country, he composed choir music and secular music for piano. He has not used his own choral work here, since the texts are in German.

The choir itself is a dedicated group and a fine tribute to the way Bender uses his talent toward bringing something new into these very old surroundings.

Mr. Bender and his musical family—he says they all play piano, but did not learn under paternal tutelage—enjoy an easily earned popularity among choir members and church goers at the Mission.

Singers who've worked with him call him "a strict master, and a good one."

"A Hissing Rather Than A Loud Burning Sound"

Three T-37 jet aircraft will arrive here about September 1 and will be based for about three and a half months at the Salinas airport, according to information from Fort Ord. They are being sent here from Fort Rucker, Ala. to take part in tests in the Hunter Liggett Military Reservation area by the Combat Development Experimentation Center here.

The training jets are the smallest built in the United States and have no after-burners that are the principal cause of objectionable noise. "These craft emit a hissing, rather than a loud burning sound," according to the Army dispatch.

During their stay here, the planes will fly sorties virtually every day between September 14 to December 19—except for the first two weeks in November. Their flights will be flown in accordance with Civil Aeronautics Authority flight rules after filing with Military Flight Service.

The T-37 is built by Cessna, purchased by the Air Force, and loaned to the Army for these tests. Its maximum cruising speed is about 300 miles an hour and it lands at 95, less than a number of propeller driven craft at the Salinas airport. A team of nine officers, one warrant officer, and thirty enlisted personnel will be stationed at the airport.

Lions Club Have Taco Booth At County Fair

Once again the Carmel Lions are manning the taco booth at the county fair. This year the booth has been beautifully decorated in Lions' colors, purple and gold, by Lion George Dear and members of his committee. Lion Dutch Belvail has set up the kitchen which carries the Goodhousekeeping seal of approval.

Lion Augie Nieto and Louisa opened the stand following the fair breakfast Wednesday morning. Some of the early patronizers were Lions Bob O'Brien, Ted Fehring, George and Mildred Dear and Dr. and Mrs. William Coughlin.

Lion Romie Garneau is in charge of the working committees that man the booth and has reported the booth doing a big business.

Carmel Craftsmen Win At County Fair

Carmel weavers who won awards at the Monterey County Fair are Anne Blinks, first in drapery and napery; Les Rhinehart, first in upholstery, Coyla Simmons, second; Dora C. Crabtree, first in clothing; types not listed, Mrs. Verne Bartram, first, Mrs. Margaret G. Gerber, second, Dora C. Crabtree, third.

Woodworking winners from Carmel are Roger F. Wiley, first in cabinet work and furniture; Ernest C. Calley, first in turning, Roger F. Wiley, second; Liesel Wurzmann, third in drift and desert wood; Larry Cunningham, second in decorative carving relief, Howell Armor, third; Alice Robertson, third for useful carving.

Special class winners are Jan Wallace a second in mosaics; Edythe Plamondon, second in types not listed, Blanche Tolmie, third.

Leona Wardner

Mrs. Leona Jaeger Wardner died in a local rest home on Tuesday after being in failing health for a long time. A year ago she came from Portland, Oregon, to live in Carmel with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jon Konigshofer. She was the widow of Dr. George Horace Wardner who died in 1927. Mrs. Wardner was born in La Porte, Indiana, on February 4, 1877.

A niece, a nephew and two grandchildren survive her, in addition to Mrs. Konigshofer.

Memorial services will be held on August 26 in the Cherry Park Church, Portland. Inurnment will be in the Portland Columbarium.

Those wishing to honor the memory of Mrs. Wardner may do so in the form of donations to the New Peninsula Community Hospital Building Fund, Box 900, Carmel.

Paint Your Wagon Opens Friday At Forest Theater

The Forest Theater's main stage will be alight this Friday and Saturday night as miners, fandango girls, gamblers, and a host of other colorful '49ers gather for the big jamboree, Paint Your Wagon, the lusty musical comedy of the gold rush by the authors of Brigadoon and My Fair Lady.

Carmel's Forest Theater, one of the country's most beautiful natural amphitheatres, has been dark for two seasons except for downstairs productions. The re-opening with Paint Your Wagon is sponsored by the Forest Theater Guild, and produced by Thomas Brock and Robert Carson, long known as directors at the Wharf Theatre in Monterey.

Bonfires will be lit in the piney playhouse at 8:00 on performance nights, to welcome the audience to an evening of music under the stars. Lights Up cue on the seventy-foot stage is at 8:30 o'clock. Walter Scott and Ruth Allen have re-created a California gold rush camp, complete with general store, Fandango Palace, and a hilltop rising high above the stage into the branches of the theatre's natural pines.

Paint Your Wagon's tuneful score, which won a New York Critic's Award, includes such popular hits as I Talk To The Trees and They Call The Wind Maria. The dance department, headed by Linda Lion, performs squares, fandangos, and an eighteen man ballet number.

There will be performances on Friday and Saturday nights for three weeks.

Town Topics . . .

Two types of people we don't want in Carmel, whether residents or visitors. First, those who run over squirrels leaving them still alive on the streets. Beatrice Clark tells Town Topics she has to keep running out and chloroforming the hit-run victims so they have a more merciful death.

Second, persons who break easily identifiable liquor bottles on sidewalks and leave them for someone else to pick up. Shattered glass has ben all over the walk on the east side of Dolores Street below Eighth for several days. If anyone gets cut, the Red Cross chapter house is on the first corner towards town.

Plant A Tree Forms Ready At City Hall

The Please Plant A Tree forms were placed on the counter in the city clerk's office at city hall this week and first to fill one out was Francis Whitaker.

He requested that the city plant the following trees at the following places: On Junipero, between Ocean and Sixth, east side, pines and maples. San Carlos between Third and Fourth on the west side, a pine. On the northwest corner of Sixth and Junipero, a pine. On Dolores between Fourth and Fifth north of parking lot, two pines.

These forms were authorized by the city council on the request of the planning commission so that citizens who wish to see areas of the town improved by tree planting can make their requests in writing with the assurance that they will either see the trees planted or get an explanation of why not.

More Things Than Ever To See, To Do At County Fair Over This Weekend

This year's Monterey County Fair which opened yesterday has more things for all fair-goers to do and see.

The '58 "Fair with a Flair" is a vari-cultured event, combining the old flavor cherished by those who feel today's fairs are too commercial with the new ideas held by those who insist a fair show progress.

Of particular interest to the women attending the Fair will be the new home economics building, housing baked goods, confections, preserves, and the children's division. This year for the first time a demonstration and explanation of the procedure used in judging various items will be given daily at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Another new feature of this exhibit will be a six-room house, each room furnished and decorated by exhibits entered in the home economics department.

Each Fair-goer will find something of interest in the Agriculture exhibit, where the most outstanding produce in the county is on display. An interesting part of this exhibit is the one family farm booth, planned and sponsored by county farm families.

For excitement, one can't afford to miss the junior livestock auction, scheduled to begin Saturday morning. Auctioneer Art Bayer will cry the sale, at which Future Farmers and 4-H Club members will offer their prize animals.

In the education exhibit the best school work of youngsters throughout the county is on display. The art show and crafts exhibit offer large displays of the finest talent in California.

One of the most beautiful exhibits is floriculture. Amateur and professional gardeners have been planning their exhibits here for months.

Another interesting exhibit is found in the commercial hall. Here one can marvel at the wonders of science at work on new appliances, listen to an organ recital, or investigate the possibility of reducing on an easy-chair.

Out on the midway every visitor will find food to satisfy him, ranging from cotton candy to steaks.

A special feature of this year's Fair will be eight fashion shows, to be held in the Hunt Club. The latest in fall fashions will be displayed.

People in the mood to have their portraits painted or their pictures taken may do so at the Fair. Housewives feeling the need for more cook books, or perhaps a vegetable cutter, can satisfy their wants, too.

Town Topics . . .

A confusion of three Graces sometimes exists in Carmel according to Mrs. Grace C. Howden who reports that in Carmel is also a Mrs. Grace B. Howden who formerly lived in Oakland. A Grace Howden lived in Piedmont, then married an Italian count and went to live in Italy. Mrs. Grace C. Howden came to Carmel from Italy in 1938. Confused? So are lots of people who know one or other of the Grace Howdens from Italy or Carmel.

The William Brandon family is talking about Lib their Labrador retriever. Last Friday while the Brandons were moving across town from Thirteenth Street to a new home at San Antonio and Fourth Streets, daughter Janie overturned the family car three times and wrecked it on Pacific Street in Monterey. Lib was in the car. In the confusion of Janie being taken to the hospital with a cut artery in her forehead, arrival of police etc., Lib disappeared. Later in the evening Bill Brandon borrowed a car and cruised streets near the accident scene calling and looking for Lib with no success. Saturday morning he returned to the old home on Thirteenth Street, and there was Lib, who had found his way over the hill himself. Bill fed Lib who then started purposefully towards town. Bill jumped into his borrowed car and picked up the dog. "I'm sure he was going back to Monterey to find Janie," says Bill.

August 20, 1958.
Carmel, Calif.

Dear Topics:

Why shouldn't some of the most beautiful property in Carmel be used for a civic center? Each side of Junipero Street between Third and Fourth Avenues has a view of the town, the bay and Point Lobos. It is marked for heavy industry commercial use in the Master Plan, which places the civic center across Ocean Avenue at Junipero Street.

The city already owns a corporation yard at the corner of Junipero and Fourth next to the Youth Center. The yard would make a fine parking lot for the youth center if planned on different levels, preserving the fine pines on the property and leaving enough room for city equipment, properly housed.

Junipero Street is to be the main entrance route into Carmel. Wouldn't it be advantageous to have the civic center attractively housing city hall, post office, and city department offices on a site with a beautiful view, away from the congested shopping district and where it could be seen and found by all persons coming to town? Tourists might even drive more slowly with something like this to look at instead of motels and heavy industry development.

View Lover.

Is it J. O. Handley's lumber yard View Lover is viewing for a City Hall site?

A REPORT ON THE ACTIVITIES OF THE HARRISON MEMORIAL LIBRARY FOR THE YEAR 1957 - 1958

CIRCULATION: Total circulation for the year rose by 17,784, going from 136,321 to 154,105, a gain of 11.5%. This gives the library a circulation of 35.4 books per capita and a per registered borrow circulation of 34.38. Of this toal the borrowing of books by children accounted for 35,478 transactions. In the adult books, 45,131 were non-fiction, 65,017 were fiction, and there were 8,479 periodicals.

NEW BOOKS: 275 new juvenile books were added to our collection and 1609 adult books. We received from the County Library 758 new adult books and 238 juvenliles.

SPECIAL COLLECTIONS: The Nixon Collection of local history was brought up to date this year and a second steel filing case was purchased to house the additional material. This was done through a special appropriation from the City Council.

The Leffingwell Collection of books on the arctic was bound this year and placed on display in the reading room. These books were given to the library some years ago but were never cataloged. There were thirty five volumes in the collection when they were taken upstairs to be shelved in the locked cases because many of them are irreplaceable. Mr. Leffingwell has since given more books to the library and these are to be processed this year.

COOPERATION WITH OTHER LIBRARIES: This library borrowed 389 books from other libraries and loaned five to other libraries. This figure does not include the several hundred books which were borrowed upon special request from the Monterey County Library or from the California State Library. Such books are not properly counted as interlibrary loan because it is considered that the Carmel library belongs to the cooperative system of the other two larger libraries.

The practice of cooperative book selection with two other libraries has been worked out this year and has been very successful. Every two weeks the Carmel Librarian goes to Salinas to attend these meetings at which time the librarians of Monterey County and Salinas Public Library meet to review books and discuss possible purchase. It is at these meetings that

PYRRHIC VICTORY

The aftermath of courage is despair.
To meet fierce challenge, all our soul reserves ride raging into battle, clear the air and overcome, as bravery deserves.
But when the javelin threat has lost its force,
when ghosts of danger vanish from our view, defenders dwindle and shock runs its course through tears toward helpless wondering-what-to-do.
This marks for every warrior his nadir, that cellared gloom below bright consciousness;
if he climb back to sun, it is by sheer tenacity, for dark looms never less.
While feet step sturdily where he must go,
a smile denies the truth friends need not know.

—HELEN FAULKNER.

RENDEZVOUS

Can there be points of rendezvous,
Barely hidden from human view,
In ambience beneath the blue,

Such as a bee and a blossom's tip,
Elusive meetings along the strip
Where low earth touches heaven's lip,

Or bargaining spots of cloud and sun,
Decreeing days that shall be dun
Against those goldenly outspun?

May fragile folk not group and peer,
Discussing matters vast and sheer,
Unheard, below man's very ear,

And deities of sky and earth
Confer on dubious mortal worth
As Eos brings the day to birth?

—LORI PETRI.

CRY OF THE WIND

Listen well . . . I am the voice of God speaking to men from abiding hills.
I am the voice of men speaking to God from deserts and valleys; from kings' palaces and the hovels of beggars in cacaphonies of prayer and blasphemy, love and grim hate.
I am the voice of pleading and braggart's boasting,
Babel-twisted words . . . heart-words . . .
dying words.

My voice is the cry of an eagle mocking the scream of a wanton;
the death knell of a dove, echoing sobs of lonely frustration.

I am the wind . . .
God's messenger between history and eternity . . .

I am the wind . . .

—LAURA JANET LARSON.

the books which Carmel receives, as additions to the collection of county books housed in this library, are chosen and ordered.

A series of in-service training meetings were held again this year. These are a help to all the libraries in this area in that some preliminary training of new personnel is accomplished, and the older employees are given an opportunity to review and enlarge their knowledge. This year the sessions were all on reference books and Mrs. Edson of the Carmel Library conducted one of the meetings.

COOPERATION WITH THE SCHOOLS: During the school year many teachers brought their classes to the library at regularly scheduled intervals. The students received help with their project work, instruction in library usage, and recreational reading. One hundred thirty classes came to the library during the year.

At the beginning of the school year the Librarian talked to the new teachers stressing the desire of the entire library staff to cooperate with the teachers and telling them of the complimentary cards issued to all teachers in the Carmel schools no matter where they resided. When the Carmelo and Tularcitos schools were voted into the Carmel Unified District the Library Board decided to offer these students the same service as is provided to other students inside the district.

For the second time this library is providing study and text materials for the Monterey Institute for Foreign Studies, which is meeting again this year under the direction of Dr. Gaspard Weiss at the Mission. Most of this material is borrowed from the California State Library, although some books were in our own library.

How to do it better with WATER

PORTABLE SPRINKLERS KEEP GARDENS GREEN

Selecting the right type of portable sprinkler for your garden or lawn can save you money and lots of effort, as well as prevent over- or under-watering.

If you have a curved or irregular shaped planting area, you may find the soil soaker ideal. You can curve it along the lines of your garden.

The "rod" type sprinkler makes it easy to reach under shrubs, bushes and hard-to-reach plants.

There are sprinklers that rotate, oscillate, "walk" or just stand still. Pick one with a fine, rather than a coarse spray, but not so fine that the wind will blow it away.

"In an hour of watering your garden you might use about 300 gallons which would cost you only a few cents. These pennies per day pay for hundreds of items necessary to provide you with a plentiful supply of safe water. The important thing about your water bill is not the charges it records, but the savings it doesn't mention.

Carmel Youth Center Is Studied As Model By Visiting Experts

Twice in past weeks Carmel's Youth Center has been studied by out-of-town persons, planning teenage recreation centers in their communities, who came to investigate the local project as one of the most successfully operated in the country.

A group of Los Altos teenagers spent time at the Youth Center meeting the teenage administrative board and gathering material pertinent to establishing a similar recreation center in their area. Bill Niepoth, Los Altos recreation director, is to make a visit here for further research, according to a letter received by Youth Center directors, Jack and Bonnie Giles, from John M. R. Hope, chief administrative officer and city clerk of Los Altos.

Miss Zelda Gellenbeck of Tacoma, Washington, was sent to study Carmel Youth Center by Bing Crosby, who recommended it as a model for teenage operated clubs. She is a member of the faculty of Jason Lee Junior High School in the Northwest city.

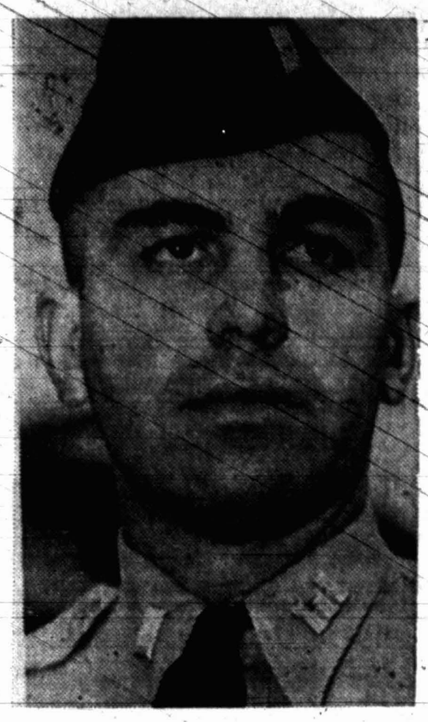
Irene Dodd

Mrs. Irene Hawkins Dodd died on Sunday morning in a local hospital after a long period of failing health. She came here from her home in Palo Alto to visit her son Frederick McKenzie Dodd on July 1.

Mrs. Dodd was born in San Rafael on February 14, 1876. She was the widow of Frederick Dickenson Dodd with whom she moved to Fresno in the 1890s to become a pioneer settler of the town. In 1925 she moved with Mr. Dodd to Palo Alto. Her husband died in 1929.

Besides her son in Carmel, Mrs. Dodd is survived by two granddaughters, Diana and Gloria Dodd of Carmel; and a niece, Miss Frances McDougal of Berkeley.

Funeral services, conducted by the Reverend David Hill, rector of All Saints' Episcopal Church, were held on Tuesday morning in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea. Burial was in the family plot in Alta Mesa Cemetery in Palo Alto.

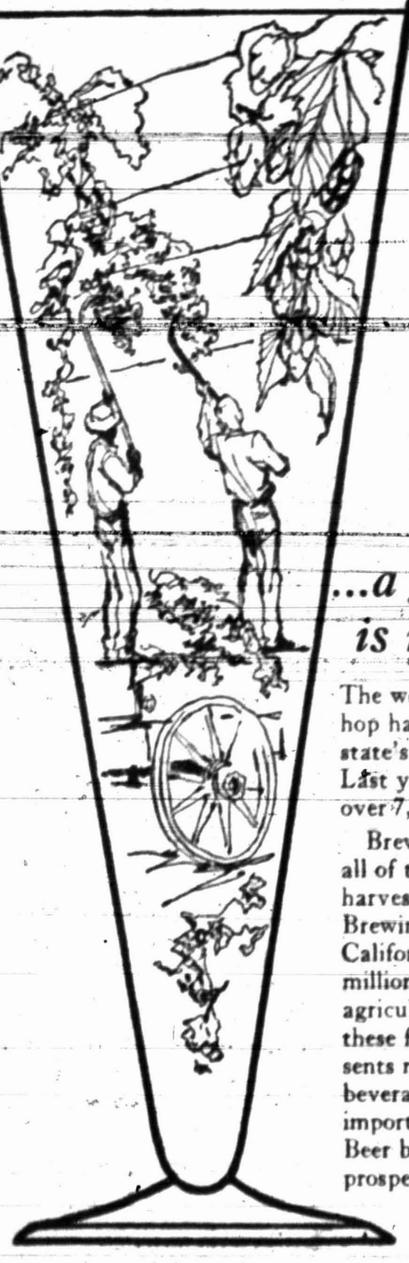


Wallace W. Hickerson was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army after completing six weeks of training this summer at the Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) camp at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hickerson of Carmel and graduated as a civil engineer from Oregon State College in June. He returned to Corvallis when his ROTC training ended and is employed in the hydraulics division of Oregon's State Highway Department until September when he re-enters Oregon State College to obtain a master's degree in hydraulics. His wife's name is Clorine and their daughter, Kathy Jo, is ten months old.

Pete Osborne Off To School

Peter Osborne, son of Colonel and Mrs. R. E. Osborne, enrolled on Monday at Drew School in San Francisco where he will prepare for entrance to the Air Force Academy. Pete graduated from Carmel High School in June.

To California



...a glass of beer is many things

The world-famous California hop harvest is one of our state's important crops. Last year our farmers grew over 7,000,000 pounds of hops.

Brewers purchased virtually all of this premium hop harvest. In the past year the Brewing Industry paid California farmers over $21 million for a variety of agricultural products. To these farmers beer represents more than a refreshing beverage—to them it's an important source of income. Beer belongs to California prosperity.

TRI-COUNTY SWIM MEET AT FORT ORD POOL SATURDAY MORNING

Carmel's undefeated swimming team goes after victory 33 this Saturday morning at the Fort Ord pool where the annual Tri-County Swim Championships will be held. The Carmel natators are defending champions of the Tri-County and are heavily favored to splash to another victory this year. Swim teams from Salinas, Santa Cruz, Watsonville, Monterey, Hollister, Pacific Grove, and Gilroy will be on hand to make a run at the defending champs.

The Carmel club racked up victory number 32 at the expense of the fast-improving Monterey Marlins in a recent meet at the Carmel High School pool. Monterey gave the classy Carmel swimmers a battle in the swimming events but lost out when the Carmel divers picked up all the points. Cathy Dancy led the point-makers for the Carmel team, racing to three first places in the girls 15-16 division. The versatile Cathy picked up blue ribbons in the freestyle, individual medley, and butterfly events. Bert Blanks, Gary Aebersold, Ronnie Jella, Lesley Strosnider, and Robin Templeton were double winners for the Carmel cause. Other Carmel point-makers were Liz van Loben Sels, 1st in the backstroke; Mike Byrne, 3rd in the freestyle; Marie Vose, 2nd in the freestyle and backstroke; Paul Giles, 1st in the freestyle; Ricky Baldwin, 2nd in the freestyle and butterfly; Jim Butler, 3rd in the freestyle; Mary Martin, 1st in the freestyle; Jane Martin, 2nd in the freestyle; Ginger Laky, 3rd in the freestyle; Pat Mosolf, 1st in the backstroke and 2nd in the butterfly and individual medley; Ann Giles, 1st in the individual medley and 2nd in the breaststroke; Bob Wakefield, 3rd in the breaststroke; Doyle Clayton, 1st in the individual medley; Barbara Giles, 2nd in the freestyle and butterfly; Ronnie Berry, 1st in the freestyle and 3rd in the breaststroke; Sandy Aebersold, 3rd in the backstroke and breaststroke; Larry Thompson, 1st in the freestyle and 3rd in the backstroke and breaststroke; Patty Oenning, 3rd in the freestyle and breaststroke; and Jim Sweeney, 2nd in the freestyle and backstroke.

CARMEL MERCHANTS SPLIT DOUBLE-HEADER AT SOLEDAD PRISON

The Carmel Merchant softball nine made a successful invasion of the soledad Prison last Sunday afternoon, whipping the classy convict aggregation, 8 to 5, in the first tilt and dropping a 6-1 decision in the nightcap. By defeating Soledad in the first game, the Merchants put an end to a 20-game win streak which had been accumulated by the prison's number one pitcher. Howard Simms pitched the win for the Merchants, giving up 5 hits and striking out 6. Power in the Merchant attack was furnished by Jack McGaughey and Paul Artellan. Jack hit a solid 3-for-4 while Manager Paul showed the way with a 2-for-3 effort. Bill Conlan wielded the big stick in the second game, hitting a pair of doubles in three trips to the plate. Simms also pitched the second game but tired in the late innings.

ENTRIES FOR 47th CALIFORNIA AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP CLOSE AUGUST 30

The 47th California Amateur Championship, to be played at Pebble Beach August 15-21, will have one of the strongest fields in the history of the event. Added to the long list of top flight golfers already entered will be the finalists in the USGA Amateur Champion, who will be invited to compete in the tournament.

Entries in the State Tournament close on August 30, but it is anticipated that the Championship Division (0-5) will reach 350 this week, thus closing that division early. Handicap entries (6 and up) will be accepted until a total of 750 players has registered at Tournament Headquarters, Pebble Beach, California.

Local golfers already entered include: George L. Coleman, Jr., Keith Dahl, Wheeler Farish, Wheeler Farish Jr., Court Randolph, Monte Roecker Jr., Jim Kardas and Danny Searle II, all of Pebble Beach; Harry Craviotto, Eugene R. Scheffer, and Harry W. Turner of Carmel; Bob Stanger of Carmel Valley; Joseph E. Turner, M.D., Gene Buthenuth, R. C. Ross, George P. Galion, Warner Keeley Jr., Frank Maceira and Walter Schulken of Monterey, and Keith Rockwell, Pete Geyer, S. Paul Miller and Joseph L. Rappa Jr., and Sam D. Woods, all of Pacific Grove.

SEVEN GAME SCHEDULE FOR PADRE GRIDDERS THIS SEASON

With school starting a week later than usual, the Carmel High football squad will forego the usual eight-game schedule and play only the seven league games. Gustine, long a practice-game opponent for the Padres, will be dropped from the schedule this season. The Padres will open the season in the Annual Football Jamboree at Salinas on September 19 and finish against Pacific Grove, November 15.

1958 football schedule:

September 19—CCAL Jamboree at Salinas.

September 26—Red & Gray Intrasquad Game.

October 4—King City, here.

October 11—San Lorenzo, here.

October 17—Live Oak, there.

October 23—Gonzales, there*.

November 1—Hollister, here.

November 7—Gilroy, there*.

November 15—Pacific Grove, here.

* Night game.

Back From Southwest, Nebraska

Mrs. George Turner and Mrs. Reuben Johnson are back in Carmel after a trip through the Southwest Indian Country to Mead, Nebraska, their former home town. They were accompanied by Mrs. Johnson's sons Kent and Roddy. On the way East they visited the Grand Canyon and drove through Oak Creek Canyon to the Petrified Forest. Mrs. Turner took movies and collected material for her studies of Pueblo Indians at Monte Vista School and the group hiked to Acom pueblo atop a mesa where they were guided through "the village in the sky." The Johnsons and Mrs. Turner also stopped in Taos and spent some time at nearby Taos pueblo. They visited their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Olson and their family at Grant's, New Mexico, a uranium boom town, and ended their trip in Mead, seeing childhood friends who each year make trips home.

Mrs. Norman Gustafson, grade coordinator of the Mead schools, accompanied her sisters-in-law back to Carmel.

Only Mountains Familiar

Adele Detroit reports by postcard that she and Lance, her husband, will be back in Carmel in October. "Drove through Glacier Park yesterday," she writes, "after 20 years, the only familiar things were the mountains and this hotel." (Glacier Park Hotel). "Going to the Tetons from here," she continues, "and possibly Estes Park." The Detroits travel by car with trailer.

Mac Lennans Entertain Artist

Mr. and Mrs. J. William Mac Lennan (E. Cashion Mac Lennan) recently had as their guest Mrs. John Frederick Murphy of Santa Barbara, noted painter of children's portraits. Mr. and Mrs. Mac Lennan entertained her with a luncheon at Pine Inn and later with a small cocktail party at their home. Mrs. Murphy has recently returned from Sarasota, Florida, a well-known art colony, where she had spent several months painting.

Frank DeAmaral III Baptised

Frank DeAmaral III, son of First Lieutenant and Mrs. Frank DeAmaral Jr., came here last week with his parents on a surprise visit to his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank DeAmaral of Carmel Highlands. He was born on July 26 in Dugway, Utah, where his father is stationed with the Air Force at the Chemical Proving Grounds.

On Wednesday family members and friends gathered at Carmel Mission for Frankie's baptism. James C. Glaser Jr. was his godfather and Mrs. Luisa Byrd his godmother. He wore the dress his maternal grandfather McAlpine wore at his christening and the DeAmaral baptismal robe made by his great-great-grandmother Anne Fraties, member of one of the early Point Lobos pioneer families, for her grandchildren. The same robe was worn by both Frankie's grandfather and father at their baptisms.

Mrs. Gwyn McAlpine came from Victoria, Texas, for her grandson's christening.

After the ceremony relatives and friends were invited to the DeAmaral home in the Highlands for luncheon and an open house party.

Family Gathers For Birthday

Mr. George S. Freudenthal of Chicago celebrated his eightieth birthday at Highlands Inn on Saturday evening. Gathered in the Fireside Room with him were members of his family from various parts of the country. They came to Carmel by plane, train and car for holidays varying in length from two to ten days. Both of Mr. Freudenthal's sons were present. George F. Freudenthal Jr. came from Chicago, and James Freudenthal with his wife from Tucson, Arizona. Grandchildren at the celebration were Mrs. Sandy Weiner and her husband from Westwood; Mrs. J. B. Cohen and her husband from Los Angeles; and Marjorie and Michael Kirk from Winnetka, Illinois. Fourth generation member of the group was 14-months-old Debbie Weiner. Mr. Leo Freudenthal came from Chicago for his brother's birthday and completing the birthday gathering were Dr. and Mrs. Morris Weiner of Paso Robles. Unable to come West for the family holiday, because of illness, was Mrs. Max Kirk of Winnetka, the honor guest's daughter.

Betsy Bruchholz Bride

Elizabeth (Betsy) Bruchholz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry V. Bruchholz, was married on Monday to Morris A. Haigh, son of Dr. and Mrs. R. Haigh of Inglewood, California. Both bride and groom are 1953 graduates of Pomona College and the Reverend Robert Rankin, former chaplain at Pomona, now an executive of the Danforth Foundation in St. Louis, Missouri, performed the marriage ceremony assisted by the bride's uncle, Dr. H. Sears Thomson of Pasadena. The wedding took place in the home of the bride's parents on Carmel Point.

After graduating from Pomona, Betsy obtained her M.A. degree at the University of California in Berkeley. She is now teaching in the history department at Pomona. Her husband, after leaving Pomona, studied for his master's degree at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, New York, then spent two years in the Army serving in Germany and at Fort Ord. He is now employed by North American Aviation, Inc. in Inglewood.

After a honeymoon in Aspen, Colorado, the young couple will live in South Pasadena.

Swiss Talk At Town House

On Wednesday afternoon the Carmel Foundation Town House audience will welcome an old friend, Miss Catherine Eastwood McGrath, who has been living in Switzerland for several years. During her first visit to Carmel Miss McGrath talked at Town House about her adventures in British Africa over a period of 25 years, and especially of her life in Uganda where she lived in "the bush", teaching and nursing among the Baganda tribe. Coming now from a different background, Mis McGrath will tell of Christmas in the Alps. The program begins at 3:00 o'clock and will be followed by tea.

The August exhibit of paintings by 42 artists, who previously have had one-man showings at Town House, continues to the end of the month.

Oliver On President's List

Oliver John Wilgress, son of Mrs. John Wilgress, has maintained a grade average of "B" or better in his architectural engineering courses at California State Polytechnic College and been named to the President's Scholastic Accomplishment list for the 1957-58 school year.

Bill Gorham Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Toci of Burbank are announcing the engagement of Mrs. Toci's daughter, Linda Carol Chubb, to William H. Gorham, son of Dr. and Mrs. Curtis Gorham of Carmel. Linda and Bill met at the University of California in Santa Barbara where last year, Linda was a freshman majoring in psychology and Bill was a senior art major. Bill is continuing postgraduate studies this year at the Los Angeles Art Center with emphasis on product design. He and Linda plan to be married next summer.

Bill graduated from Carmel High School in 1953 and attended Menlo Junior College and Monterey Peninsula College before obtaining a B.A. degree from Santa Barbara College at the end of summer session on August 1. He is the brother of Mrs. Walter Reynolds Newman of Claremont and Curtis Gorham Jr. of San Jose.

Paynes Back From Alaska

Mr. and Mrs. Rollo Payne returned last week from three weeks of travelling by boat, train, car and plane as far north as the Arctic circle. They sailed from Fort Stockton on the Holland American freighter Dongedyk to Vancouver, British Columbia, then flew to Anchorage, Alaska, where they visited relatives who took them in their plane over the Kenai peninsula and other nearby points.

The Paynes travelled next by train to Fairbanks then took a plane trip over the Arctic Circle (temperature 82 degrees) to Fort Yukon. Here they rented a car and drove over the Alcan Highway to Whitehorse, Yukon territory, then transferred to a narrow guage railway to reach Skagway in Alaska. They flew from Skagway to Juneau and home by way of Seattle where they were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Rattray of Carmel.

"It is exciting in Alaska," says Mr. Payne, "as next week they vote on statehood. Everyone is discussing the advantages and disadvantages of this move."

Europe For Walter, Greg Nielsen

On September 1 Walter Nielsen and his son Greg fly to Copenhagen, pick up a Volkswagen and drive south through Europe to Italy. Greg will attend Notre Dame International School in Rome for his high school junior year. Already in Italy for the same purpose is Peter de Petra, Greg's friend and fellow classmate from Carmel High School.

Mr. Nielsen will return to Carmel early in October bringing the Volkswagen back as a present for Mrs. Nielsen. "Who is being a good girl," and staying home with daughters, Penny, Nancy and Connie.

Judge Pfaff High Twelve Speaker

Superior Court Judge Roger Alton Pfaff of Los Angeles speaks on Theodore Roosevelt at the Carmel High Twelve Club luncheon meeting tomorrow in Antonetti's Restaurant on Dolores Street. Richard C. Goodspeed will introduce Judge Pfaff, who is State chairman of the Roosevelt Centennial Committee of California. All regular Masons are invited to attend the 12:12 o'clock gathering.

Japanese Garden Authority Here

Takuma Tono, professor of landscape architecture at Tokyo Agricultural College, will be presented by the Carmel Woman's Club in a lecture tomorrow afternoon at 2:00 o'clock in the clubhouse, corner of Ninth and San Carlos. Club members, their guests and all garden lovers or admirers of the Orient are invited to attend. There will be a nominal admission charge.

Mr. Tono will show colored slides of choice Japanese gardens during his talk, as well as other pictures bringing to his audience the beauties of his native country.

A graduate in landscape architecture of Cornell University, since his return to Japan, Mr. Tono has landscaped several military bases for the United States Government. He has also written an illustrated booklet on the gardens of Japan, of which over 100,000 copies have been sold. He was sent to America at this time to represent the landscape architects of Japan at the International Landscape Architects' Convention in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Thomas Tanimoto will arrange classical ikanobo on the platform. There will be ohara ryu of moribana flower arrangements on the tables at which tea, rice crackers and small sandwiches will be served. Mrs. Samuel B. Moore and her hospitality committee are in charge of the tea hour.

Club members are reminded of the rummage sale to be held October 16. They may bring rummage to the club house at any time or phone MA 4-4844 to have it picked up. They are also reminded to start plants for the garden section.

Go To Olympic Tryouts

Horses, riders and spectators leave Pebble Beach at noon on Saturday to travel by caravan to Colorado for the national three-day Olympic Tryouts. A team will be picked for training for the Pan-American Games at this event. Local riders participating in the tryouts are Camille Stahl, Claudia Frisbie and Ernie Simard. They will be accompanied to Colorado by Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Simard, Mr. and Mrs. William Stahl, Mrs. Shreve M. Archer Jr., Dobbie Coleman and Richard D. Collins.

Also going to the tryouts are Mr. and Mrs. James M. R. Glaser. They will meet their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Winnett, (Peggy Glaser) there. The Winnetts and their two year old daughter, Laura, have just arrived in this country from Ceylon where they have been living for four years. The Glasers will bring the Winnetts back here for a visit after the Olympic Tryouts end.

Carmel Youths Get In European Mood, Hold Picture Sale

Three young Carmel artists are displaying their contemporary paintings on Fisherman's Wharf in Monterey in Pirate's Alley on the back fence of Slat's Fish Grotto. They are Kurt von Meier, Richard Elmore and Don Nile. Included in the show are watercolors, caseins and oils which may be seen (and purchased) from 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon until 10:00 in the evening each day through Sunday.

Kurt von Meier is displaying his work for sale endeavoring to increase his European travel fund. He leaves next month to study in Madrid for two years.

Richard Elmore leaves September 13 to study in Italy. There he will join the third exhibitor, Don Nile, who far the past two years has been an art student in Florence.

"We're getting into the European mood by bargaining with prospective customers," says Kurt, "pictures are sensibly priced."

Tickets On Sale For M. S. Single Seats

The Music Society's season tickets have been mailed to members of the Society. All remaining seats are now released for sale, according to Mrs. A. M. Allen, president of the board of directors.

These seats may be purchased as season tickets or as single tickets for individual events. They will be assigned in the order applications are received. Orders may be sent to the Carmel Music Society, Box 1144, Carmel.

Artists for the 1958-59 concert series are Eileen Farrell, soprano, September 26; Dietrich Fisher-Dieskau, baritone, December 2; I Musici, Rome Chamber Orchestra, January 31; Jose Greco & Company, Spanish dancers, March 11; and Louis Kentner, pianist, April 2.

Bert Edward Ackers Honored

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Edward Acker (Sharon Zarp) were guests of honor at a reception in the Girl Scout House on Friday evening. Their marriage took place in Reno, Nevada, on July 5. Mrs. Acker is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Zarp of Carmel and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. McEntire.

White streamers, wedding bells and flowers decorated the reception room. A four-tiered wedding cake, baked by the bride's mother, was served to the 150 guests following a buffet dinner and evening of dancing and opening gifts.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

How selfishness is overcome through the acknowledgment and understanding of God as the only Mind is a topic to be dealt with at Christian Science services Sunday.

Among the Bible passages to be read in the Lesson-Sermon on "Mind" in this admonition of Paul: "Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others. Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus" (Philippians 2:3-5).

Also pointing out the way to overcome selfishness are correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, including this one: "When we realize that there is one Mind, the divine law of loving our neighbor as ourselves is unfolded; whereas a belief in many ruling minds hinders man's normal drift towards the one Mind, one God, and leads human thought into opposite channels where selfishness reigns" (205:22).

Ernie Dodd Prints On Display At Camera Craft

The Camera Craft, photographic supply store on Ocean Avenue, is showing an unusual collection of black and white prints by Ernie Dodd, an amateur photographer whose work already has won considerable mention and a pair of impressive awards: the 1958 Merit Award, given annually by the San Joaquin Valley Camera Club Council, and the Fresno Camera Club's 1958 "Print of the Year" citation. Ernie Dodd, a Diesel engineer by profession, became seriously interested in photography as a hobby only four years ago. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wiley O. Dodd, live in Carmel on San Antonio, between Eleventh and Tenth Avenues.

Dale Hale and Tom Tousey, owners of the Carmel Camera Craft shop, brought this exhibition of his work here because they feel it is an outstanding example of the results achieved by an amateur of vision and talent working seriously at photography. The Ernie Dodd prints will remain on view through Saturday, August 30.

Clerk Larry Rose earned, but won't get, he set up a depreciation account in the budget which will provide systematically for replacement of city equipment according to need, and not according to councilman budget session horse-trading ("if your department needs this, then my department needs that"). He also capitalized the employees retirement fund, and he reminded the council that they had appropriated nothing for the planning commission's tree planting program, and got $450 for it.

Council meets Monday at 5:00 o'clock to adopt the budget officially and to set the tax rate, which will be 96 and a half cents instead of $1.02 and a half as last year.

Planners Talk Of New Zoning Ordinance

and expansion of the business district and make provision for adequate parking and easy access" thus providing the greatest possible service to the people of Carmel. Senator Farr also asked planning commissioners to think about mail delivery service in the business zone. He thought this would relieve traffic congestion in this area.

Commissioner Hugh Smith reported that the meeting between planners and county and state road representatives earlier in the afternoon revealed no immediate action was required for traffic entering Carmel from Highway One at Carpenter Street. "We have a short reprieve," remarked Commissioner Blanks.

Next week commissioners will also ask the city council to endorse legislation to control highway billboards. Commissioner Smith suggested a commission letter of approval also be written and Commissioner Keeble thought maybe the city council could help preparation of a California Roadside Council report on billboards by a financial donation. Commissioner Blanks, who will be in the High Sierra on vacation next week wanted to be sure that commissioners in regular session on Wednesday would act on billboards. He felt the California Roadside Council appeal should be supported. "They are fighting for and representing what we in Carmel want ... natural beauty."

William Hatton

William (Will) Hatton, a member of a pioneer Carmel Valley family, died on Tuesday in a local hospital after a short illness. He was born November 7, 1884, on Los Laurelles Ranch, but during his boyhood his parents moved to a ranch at the mouth of Carmel Valley. He attended Bay School, and Santa Clara High School. In 1909 he married Miss Louise Nason in Monterey.

Mr. Hatton was first a rancher in Carmel Valley and later in Corral de Tierra. He was a member of the Monterey County Historical Society, the Corral de Tierra Grange, the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association and an advisor to the County Planning Commission.

He is survived by his wife and two foster children, William and Janet Barker of Salinas; and many nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held this morning in Mission Mortuary with the Reverend Bernard N. Lovgren, rector of St. John's Chapel, officiating. Burial followed in the Hatton family plot in Cemeterio El Encinal. Pallbearers were Ed Parsons, Thomson J. Hudson, Dean Wolters, William Cain, Robert McKever Jr., and William Braemers.

PRINTS EXHIBITED

Paul K. Burgess is exhibiting 30 photographic prints at the Irving Lundborg Company office on Dolores Street. Mr. Burgess, a Carmel resident, had a long career as a news photographer before retiring from the position of head of the photographic department of the Los Angeles Examiner. His prints in the show are selected from files of his newspaper work, European events and scenes and local pictures. This week Mr. Burgess won first prize for his print Vendetta, entered in the People section of the photography exhibit at the Monterey County Fair.

Mrs. Richardson

The coroner's office is conducting an autopsy to determine the cause of the unexpected death of Mrs. Edwina Walker Richardon on Tuesday afternoon in her home on Santa Fe Street between Fifth and Sixth Avenues. She had been in failing health for some time.

Mrs. Richardson, 53, had lived in Carmel for 15 years. She belonged to a pioneer California family. Her father was the late Dr. Linwood Walker, noted botanist on the faculty of the University of California.

She is survived by her son, Daniel Richardson of Carmel, and a sister, Mrs. Virginia Wellhausen of Woodside.

Private funeral services were held this afternoon in Mission Mortuary.

Bookmobiles Are Red Highlands Is Blue Miltons Are Missed

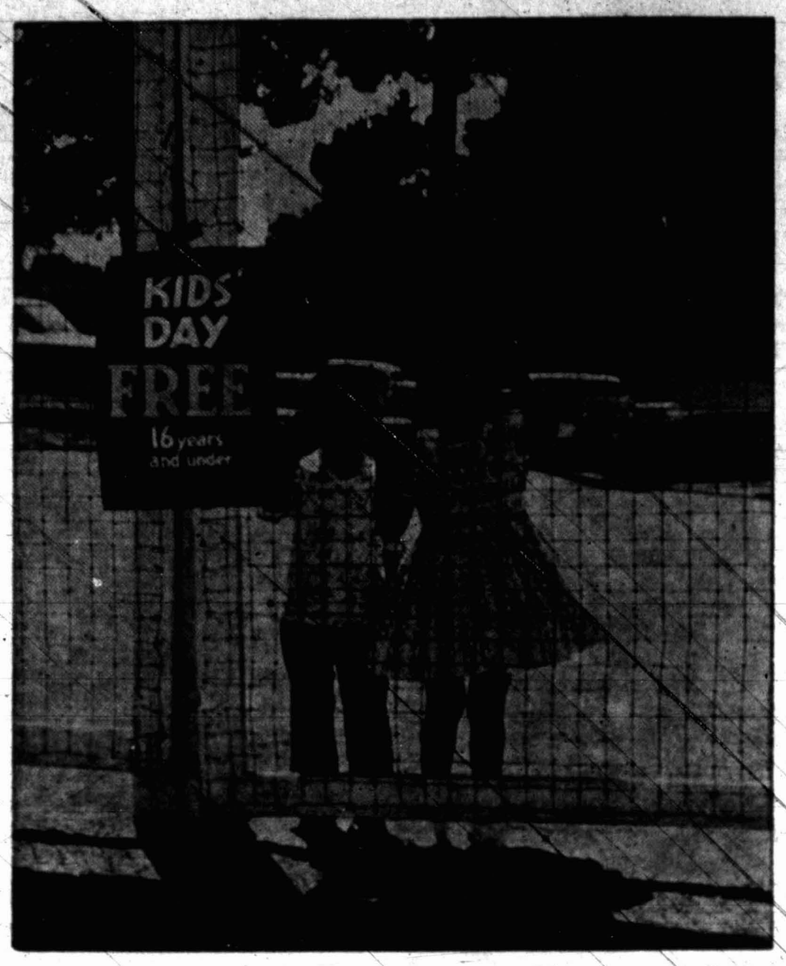
the creation of Alison Miller and Honey Williams.

Party organizer Ephraim Doner dispensed hospitality to Highlands residents gathered to say goodbye to the Miltons, who, for four and a half years, have brought them books from the county library. Glimpsed in the crowd were Mrs. William K. Stewart and her daughter, Lee; Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Kocher; Mrs. Martha Minshall and Greg; Mrs. Harold Price and Lee; Mrs. Valentine Miller and Alison, Andrew and Janie; Mrs. Russell Williams with Honey, Molly and John; Mrs. Richard Lofton and Melissa; Boz and Laidlaw Williams; Mrs. Leslie Gorn and Mrs. Doner and Tasha.

Before the Miltons left the gay luncheon party in their honor, they introduced their replacement, Nate Schafer to the Highlanders. Leon Sarazoso made the banner.



Annie Zaches and Kevin Howard, both of Monterey, could hardly wait until today when all youngsters under 16 were admitted free to the Monterey County Fair.
